Scandite Muros

Sight reading for AP[®] Latin

A fresh approach to Latin that will transform your learners into emperors of etymology.

► The Scandite Muros difference

Before 2017, Latin literature texts provided vocabulary with word order hints and commentary. Students could translate, but they were not truly reading Latin. Then Scandite Muros arrived. Scandite correlates with the updated College Board exam. More importantly, it utilizes the interpretation practice and discussion method of sight reading - increasing retention, and sharpening recognition of language patterns and structure - skills needed for AP[®], college, and law school success.

► Strengthen Vocabulary & Grammar

Scandite Muros chapters introduce learners to passage-specific vocabulary, reinforce meaning through activities, and advance sight reading proficiency through a scaffolded translation sequence. Learners translate in class, re-translate and analyze at home, and return to class for further discussions on unit topics. Chapters unpack elements of grammar that frequently challenge students. Students are introduced to a strategy and shown the strategy in context, they practice using that strategy in the same context, and then explore further practice of that strategy.

► Attain AP[®] and Collegiate Excellence

Scandite Muros hones AP[®] skills and incorporates AP[®] readings throughout. Ongoing assessment is provided through a Daily Sight-Reading Rubric that can be adapted to every learner's level of study. After students have learned and practiced the strategies needed to develop the sight-reading skills, the summative assessment is an AP[®]-style exam that aligns with AP[®] themes.

Teach Latin in class or on the go—with the Learning Site[®]

The Learning Site[®] is your home for two seamlessly integrated online learning tools, FlexText[®] and Explorer[®]! For extra mobility, download the Learning Site[®] iOS App!

FlexText[®] is a digital textbook that page by page reflects the Scandite Muros content. Highlight and take notes on pages that adjust to any screen, and that always remember where you left off the next time you log in. Learners can click their way from FlexText[®] pages directly to their video, audio, external links, and assignments in Explorer[®].

Explorer[®] is more than a holding site for audio recordings of passages, flashcards, assignments, and assessments. An online classroom forum allows discussion, and exchanges of photos, videos, GIFs and more. Educators love their version of Explorer[®], with customizable gradebook and assignment settings, assessment rubrics, instructional strategies, and more.

The Learning Site[®] can be integrated with most learning management systems, including Schoology, Clever, Google Classroom, and Canvas!
